Our chocolates should be stored in a cool, dry place and enjoyed within a week as they are made with fresh cream and no preservatives. They may be frozen or refrigerated if double wrapped in plastic and then returned to room temperature before opening. The idea is to slowly cool the chocolates so they do not crack and then to defrost them slowly so there is no condensation.

Instructions for freezing chocolates:

- Double plastic wrap the chocolates in their box or other container.
- Place in refrigerator overnight or for at least 8 hours.
- Place in freezer.

Instructions for defrosting chocolates:

- Remove from freezer and place wrapped in refrigerator overnight or for at least 8 hours.
- Remove from refrigerator and let sit wrapped at room temperature for at least 4 hours until they reach room temperature.
- Unwrap and enjoy.
